3. Nemmadi Hiriayar Mane (Old Age Home)

A retirement home – sometimes called an old people's home or old age home, although old people's home can also refer to a nursing home – is a multi-residence housing facility intended for the elderly. Typically, each person or couple in the home has an apartment-style room or suite of rooms.

Safety is definitely an issue for senior citizens. The steady security in an old age home gives them protection from intruders and helps them live a safe and secure life. One of the factors that make old age homes attractive to elders is the companionship. They are in constant company of people their own age.

Old age home is necessary for the needy and helpless old aged individuals, who has no place to go or family to look after them... and unnecessary for the greedy sons and daughters, who give lame reasons as excuses to quit responsibility ,of taking care of their parents.

Advantage of old age home, The steady security in an old age home gives them protection from intruders and helps them live a safe and secure life. One of the factors that make old age homes attractive to elders is the companionship. They are in constant company of people their own age.

Is it good to send parents to old age home?

If one has to live, today is the time. If one has to live with his/her parents/children/people, today is the time. I think living in old age homes is nothing wrong. Wrong is when you leave your old parents there and live a comfortable life away from them.

Reasons Why We Should Plant Trees

1. Trees hold soil in place Tree roots grow deep into the soil, holding it firmly in place, and help to prevent soil erosion, especially when growing on hillsides and other steep terrain.
2. Trees sequester carbon dioxide As most of us learned in school, trees and other green plants take in carbon dioxide that humans and other organisms produce.
3. Without trees, the levels of carbon dioxide in our atmosphere would be even higher than they are now.
4. Trees produce oxygen through photosynthesis, trees produce oxygen that humans and many other organisms depend on to live. 4 Some animals are dependent upon trees
5. Trees provide important habitat for wildlife and are fundamental to many ecosystems on Earth.
6. Some animals live their entire lives in trees, and some, such as the Northern Spotted Owl in Washington State in the United States, cannot survive without old growth forests.
7. Trees make cities more livable A vibrant urban forest is especially important for cities. A healthy urban forest is one of the more important factors in the establishment of livable cities, by bringing nature into an artificial and human-constructed city environment.
8. Children can learn about nature within the city environment just by being around trees and observing and interacting with them.
9. Trees increase property values It is well-known that when a home has mature trees growing on the property, it will sell for 7 to 19 percent more than if there were no trees planted there.
10. Trees help to save energy planted strategically, trees on a property near homes and other buildings can help to block wind and create shade. This helps to reduce the need for heating in the winter, and the need for cooling in the summer.
11. Trees are important for physical and mental wellness A view of trees and green spaces from hospital windows has been found to increase the healing of patients, decrease our stress, and children do much better in school when they have a view of trees and green space and can spend time playing in nature.
12. Trees feed us you can grow your own fruit or nuts in your backyard.
13. By planting fruit or nut trees in your yard, you can produce abundant food for yourself and your family, and perhaps even enough to share with friends, neighbors, other family members, and others in your community.
14. Trees create a sense of place Trees can give a place unique character and beauty that can only be found in that specific place.
15. Trees are an investment for our communities and for future generations
16. When we plant trees, we are giving a gift to the environment and to our communities.
17. Since many species of trees can live for hundreds of years or more, our “investment” tree planting may perhaps last far beyond our own lifetimes
18. Trees help to maintain local water cycles Trees play a very important role in maintenance of local water cycles. Trees hold water, prevent flooding, recharge underground aquifers, and maintain water vapor in the atmosphere, increasing the opportunity for rainfall.
19. When forests are cut down, the water vapor in the atmosphere disappears in an area, decreasing precipitation and increasing the risk of drought and desertification. By planting trees, some of these negative effects may be reversed
