Indigenous Women Programme:

The indigenous women are less educated and the only potential they have is their willingness to take up hard work. The training sessions were little difficult as the resource persons had to make the training aspect very simple and also lots of illustrations had to be designed to make the women understand the concepts.

But the efforts were taken up to make them understand the techniques they should follow to make their products innovative. The size and designs which they could follow to make it innovative was also oriented to the women. The women were able to learn the skills in a slow manner only. The women were motivated to make their products in a different manner in order to increase their sales and also to find better income out of the products. So the training aspect was a difficult one to make them to fully understand the concept. But they were made to realize the aspects and thus the training was made very effective. The production part was also little difficult during the first month. Gradually the field visits and the motivation given to them had brought better results and thus it was resolved in a phase of manner.
