It’s been a year of great upheaval and difficulties and yet it was also a year when we went back to our roots, to the beginning of the Vanavil journey, and realised that compassion and togetherness can solve problems and aid the underprivileged in an effective manner.

The COVID-19 pandemic threw everyone's life off guard but the poorest took the hit in the worst possible way. The lockdowns imposed to keep people safe meant a lack of livelihoods and income for many. The nomadic communities Vanavil primarily works with were the worst affected and hunger became an equal danger they had to fend off.

Vanavil’s regular work was impacted terribly but with a committed team and the generosity of our donors, we quickly realigned ourselves to answer this challenge. We took to creating awareness about the pandemic and the safety and hygiene protocols with our communities, with a particular focus on children. We also got into an extensive food relief program. We continued our educational work by running micro classes in the villages and through online educational activities.

We focused on art- and story-based counselling for our children to relieve them of the fear and trauma of the pandemic. We started a livelihoods initiative for the nomadic women who were struggling to keep their families afloat.

We fell sick, lost friends and family members to the pandemic and yet as a team we were able to remain resilient and agile. Our staunch supporters continued to support us amidst their own problems and many more new people came to the aid of the people we were serving. In a year of complete isolation, we made new friends and retained most of our existing friends and we went that extra mile to help our people in the time of the crisis.

We are strengthening ourselves as an organisation thanks to the help of an organisation development program and are gearing to redefine ourselves with a focus on impact, scalability and effective implementation of our vision. We reached out to many in dire need this last year and we would like to express our deep gratitude for all our friends, donors and community for enabling us to do this. Together with compassion let’s rebuild this new normal into a better one!
Vanavil Trust works with the nomadic communities, with multiple projects for their all round development and empowerment.

WHO ARE THE NOMADIC COMMUNITIES?

There are nearly 1,500 nomadic and semi-nomadic tribes and 198 denotified tribes, comprising 15 crore Indians, according to the Renke Commission, 2008. These tribes remain socially and economically marginalised even now, and are deprived of basic human rights.

According to the report of the NCDNT, only 42% of the DNT and 28% of the nomadic Tribes have access to schooling (NCDNT, 2008). The proportion of children accessing Anganwadi centres was also reported to be similar. Instances of discrimination were also reported.

The Renke Commission, which submitted its report in 2008, highlighted that 50% of nomadic and Denotified communities lacked any kind of documents and 98% were landless.

The Denotified and Nomadic Tribes (DNTs) were formally known and notified as the “Criminal Tribes of India (1871) and subsequently “Denotified” in 1952. While these communities are listed under various disadvantaged sub-categories by the government, what they all share is the stigma of being “born criminals.”

Vanavil School kept its children healthy and engaged in learning even through the thick of the pandemic. A very big shout out to our committed teachers who braved the pandemic to teach children in the villages.

- The school was shut but we did micro classes in villages
- We created online materials and used available resources to do WhatsApp classes
- Helped children’s mental wellbeing by providing art kits and counselling
- Distributed supplementary food to all students
- Provided grocery kits to the families of our students
- Trained our teachers in online teaching and resource creation
- Adapted our Jodo Gyan Math program to the home learning situation
- Ran the ELF phonetic based English learning program online
- Engaged and trained community volunteers to educate children
Teachers are the core of education!

We used the lockdown to better equip our teachers in the following manner:

Teachers read a booklist on the history, processes and models of education and reviewed them. Read our teacher book reviews at https://vanavilschool.wixsite.com/artoflearning

Our teachers did a research project on nomadic communities to understand the community as this is an important part of being a teacher to the most marginalised.

We continued our training with Jodo Gyan on Math learning with an emphasis on acquiring the “number sense” through the pandemic.

Teachers’ workshop on child protection took them through the legal facts and practical methods to detect and prevent any kind of child abuse.

We thank Marc Sauquet Foundation, Battle of Buffet, Aid India and Wipro Cares for supporting our School!

CHALLENGES

Only 10% of the parents of our students had a smartphone and even that was to be shared by everyone in the household. Sourcing devices and data plans were expensive. Much of the online resources were in English and that inspired us to make some of our own materials.

GUNA’S STORY

Guna who is now in Grade 1 came to Vanavil as a malnourished three-year-old along with his two elder sisters. His parents were extremely poor and found it difficult to be able to provide nutritious food to the family. Due to malnutrition, as a child, Guna was tired most of the time. He did not show interest in the playing or learning activities conducted in school. Continuous monitoring of his health along with nutritious food (breakfast and lunch along with a glass of milk and nutritious snack) was provided to Guna at Vanavil. He was brought up in a child-friendly environment along with kids of his age. With Vanavil’s child-friendly pedagogy and Montessori method of teaching and learning, Guna slowly started getting involved in play and learning activities. Guna now shows curiosity to learn new things and is attending classes regularly. He has become a healthy, happy and responsible child after joining Vanavil!
Vanavil was running a home for 100+ boys and girls in its Sikkal campus. In adherence to the compliance rules, we decided to convert the home into an exclusive Girls’ Home that can take boys only up to the age of ten. We are working on a community-based child protection plan for boys and helping those in need of shelter access to government hostels.

- Children who stayed at our Children’s Home during the pandemic built a mud house, planted and harvested vegetables and learnt artisanal skills like tailoring, basket weaving, mat making and martial arts.

- Vanavil alumnus and a student of Ceramic Design, Lakshmanan ran an art workshop to make wall murals and masks with the children.

- We gave our children immunity-boosting food items every day such as fruits, vegetables and soups with a lot of pepper and increased intake of turmeric and cinnamon.

- Reading books and sharing stories was how our library hour started in the lockdown. Slowly our children started to review books and also write their own stories. It built their overall language skills in a fun way!

- We used children’s movies to kill the boredom and help students acquire English comprehension. Our children watched over 40 wonderful children’s movies including Lion King, Ratatouille, Toy Story and the Kungfu Panda series. It was fun and engaging as they also had discussions on the movies they watched.
PARTNERS DURING THE PANDEMIC

We owe immense gratitude to the Center for Learning and Empowerment (CLE) Trust, Bangalore which is run by a group of scientists and technologists for reaching out to us during the pandemic to help our students with online classes.

CLE also conducted Math and English classes for our students in classes 6-10. A very big thanks to Rahul, Leela, Latha, Thenmozhi, Bhama and Ramesh!

Thank you, Mr. Aroon Raman and Ms. Hema Hattangady for supporting our Children's Home Project!

ART & EDUCATION

With the grant received from the IFA for Arts Education project, we kick-started our work for the NOMAD art show. This show will have 7 artists, 7 student artists and 2 photographers documenting the life of nomads over the years. We conducted a workshop with all the artists and photographers and started the initial discussion.

ABINAYA’S STORY

Abinaya is the youngest child in our girls’ Home. She was in UKG when the pandemic hit. She was a shy child who was reluctant to speak in Tamil as she is used to speaking in Telugu at home. With the various activities we undertook to develop language skills at the Home, including storytelling and movie watching she slowly started to speak. She started participating enthusiastically in various workshops and book review sessions conducted at Vanavil Children’s Home and is now shining as the storyteller of Vanavil. She creates her own characters and stories beautifully and narrates them to her friends. She also gave a storytelling performance during our Diwali celebrations!
Vanavil reached 484 children from the nomadic communities through our afterschool program and we kept our centres open throughout the pandemic!

To do so, and keep our children safe and healthy, we adopted a set of strategies such as:

- Ensuring that they stick to the COVID-19 hygiene and hand wash protocol
- Providing supplementary nutrition through eggs, chickpeas and pounded rice, and jaggery
- Distributing art kits to deal with the lack of school boredom
- Following up on child labour and supporting the families so that children won’t have to go to work
- Running classes with a special emphasis on Language, Math and Science.
We streamlined our program with:

- Regular weekly review meetings with teachers
- Monthly training on pedagogy, subjects and counselling
- Online photo monitoring of the centres every day
- Providing tabs for online learning for the centres
- Conducting book reading sessions for teachers
- Conducting events to build confidence in children and to provide opportunities to them to express their cultural talents

Purushothaman is a student of Arasur After-School Centre. He is studying in 7th Standard in the Government Higher Secondary School, Manalagaram. When he started coming to the centre, he was naughty and kept disturbing other children in the class. Though he was very talkative in class he had stage fright and would never volunteer to share things with the entire class. Ms. Vijaya, a teacher at the after-school centre, identified his interest in stories and introduced him to storybooks. He started reading one book in the library and was hooked to reading. He kept coming back for more and more books and was at the library even when there were no classes at the centre. His interest in books and reading turned him into a storyteller and he would tell stories from the books he read to the class. His storytelling practice enabled him to overcome his stage fright and he volunteered to give a speech at the Independence Day celebrations.

Thanks to the Shankar Narayan Memorial Library movement, we started a wonderful library at our Arasur after school centre and Purushothaman uses the library the most!
We sent 31 kids to college from the nomadic communities!

- We guided our kids to suitable courses and handheld them through college admissions
- We provided them with mobile phones so that they can attend online classes
- We conducted online spoken English classes

NOMADIC YOUTH FOR CHANGE!

We conducted an annual meet ‘Maatrathai Noki’ in December 2020, where all 31 of our higher education students met their seniors and mentors. They had long discussions on why education is important and decided as a group that they will research and write the history of their community, form a student organisation and include students from the community who are pursuing their higher education in other districts and work towards the betterment of nomadic communities. They have also decided to make a documentary on the community and master the English language to ensure academic success.
Hearty thanks to Shooting Star Foundation, its amazing founder Latha Narayanan and their amazing patrons Mr. Singaram and Mrs. Vasuki Singaram for coming forward to support the education of students from nomadic Communities.

DREAMING HIGH WITH VANAVIL

Bhuvaneshwari, who is now pursuing her final year B.Sc Mathematics in Bharathidasan College, came to Vanavil as a toddler. She has 6 siblings - 2 elder sisters, 2 younger sisters and 2 younger brothers who are all students of Vanavil. Her father is an alcoholic who spends all his earnings on drinking. Her mother raised all 7 children by working multiple jobs including begging, collecting and selling plastic bottles, etc.. Apart from her undergraduate degree, Bhuvaneshwari is also learning typing and tailoring in her free time. She learnt English through the classes conducted for higher education students in Vanavil and continued to practice reading and writing English. Now she speaks and writes English fluently. She is also the teacher of our After-School Centre in Sellur village and earns extra income to support her mother. She is very meticulous with her academics and wants to pursue an MBA after her graduation and secure a job in the banking sector.
Vanavil is the collaborative partner for Childline India Foundation for the Railway Childline project run by the Ministry of Women and Child Development. This collaboration has strengthened our work towards child protection. As the pandemic halted the trains and railways, we found innovative ways to keep up our mandate. We created posters, TV ads and awareness materials about Childline and Child rights.

- We conducted awareness programs at the village level to curb child marriages
- We held online art competitions to reach children with child protection messages
- We reached relief to underprivileged people living in the adjacent areas around Nagapattinam railway station
- We worked on creating awareness with stakeholders in and around the Railway station and provided them with safety gear to fight the pandemic
- We recruited volunteers to work as child protection monitors at the community level
In August 2020, we formed the first all-nomadic women Milk Cooperative Society with 25 members in Sellur village with the generous support of the Primary Agricultural Cooperative Society of Sikkal and the benevolent support of Aavin. The Milk Society was inaugurated by Mr. Praveen Nair, IAS, the Collector of Nagapattinam and Thanga Kathiravan, Chairman of Sikkal PACS and Thanjavur Mr. R. Gandhi, the President of Aavin Society.

Thanks to Ashwini Seetha Foundation and its inspiring founder Ms. Sudha, Vanavil started a Livelihood program to help nomadic women to start anew and strengthen their livelihoods. This program was initiated for the women of Thiruthuraipoondi, Vilathur, and Aprakudi in the Tiruvarur district. With the aim of social upliftment, the women are provided microcredit using Self Help Groups. We formed 3 SHGs named Sembaruthi, Roja and Thamarai with around 13-14 members in each. This initiative has helped women from the community start their own small businesses and support their families. We also set up an SHG for milk producers named Alli with 10 women in Alathambadi village and bought them cows.

This year, our livelihood interventions took large strides.

- We formed SHGs and gave interest-free loans to 40 women to run small businesses
We started a milk producer SHG and 10 women were provided with livestock and marketing linkages to Aavin

A tailoring centre was set up to train women to seek employment in the garment industry/start tailoring units

We celebrated Women's Day with the women from 4 SHGs and tailoring centre students at Thiruthuraipoondi. We had Ms Tamil Sudar, District Women Organiser, and Ms Valarmala, District Women Deputy Organiser, from Tamil Nadu Rural Development Officers Association as chief guests. They spoke about the issues faced by women and how women should come out of the stereotypes defined by men and be independent in society. Children from After-School centres performed cultural events for the women who joined the children in dancing and singing, to celebrate the working Women's Day.

MAHESWARI'S STORY

Maheswari is a married woman with 2 kids, and her husband is a petty hawker. She sells fancy items in the nearby villages and walks close to 25-30 kms a day to sell fancy items. She had taken loans from microfinance companies like Equitas and others for the initial investment. Her daily earning of Rs. 300 was never enough for her to pay the interest and take care of everyday expenses. This led to her taking more loans and ending up with increased debts. She used the interest-free loan she got through Vanavil and Ashwini Seetha Foundation as an initial investment for her business. Now, with no interest to pay, she is able to take care of everyday expenses and is also paying back her outstanding loans.
LIFE SKILLS AND BONDING WITH ULTIMATE FRISBEE
VANAVIL + ONE ALL PARTNERSHIP

We signed up for the One All collaboration, and Chiai Uruguchi and Prabakar came and planned the program for us. Prabakar, the master trainer, stayed with us as a consultant from One All for five months. He conducted a facilitator training program for the teachers as well as classes for the children from Vanavil Home and After-School centres in Ultimate Frisbee.
